I. INTRODUCTION ..... 1

II. ARGUMENT ..... 2

    A. The Propriety of Removal is Based Solely on Plaintiffs’ State Court Pleadings .. 2

    B. The Plaintiffs May Not Avoid Federal Court Jurisdiction Through Artful Pleading..... 3

        1. Both the Original Complaint and the FAC are Based on Collective Bargaining Agreements Governed by the RLA ..... 4

        2. Plaintiffs’ Original Complaint and FAC Both Concern the Actions and Rights of RLA Labor Organizations ..... 6

    C. The District of Columbia District Court Remand Decision Relied Upon by Plaintiffs is Clearly Distinguishable..... 11

    D. Individual Pilots Were Not Parties to the ALPA Mandated Arbitration ..... 13

    E. Exercising Removal Jurisdiction Does Not Require This Court to Determine the Scope of Preemption Under the RLA, But if This Court Does, it Should Follow a Majority of Circuits that Hold the RLA Completely Preempts State Claims..... 14

1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Plaintiffs’ Motion to Remand (Dkt. No. 9),<sup>1</sup> is founded on the argument that their
3 claims are in no way based on the terms of a collective bargaining agreement (CBA)
4 governed by the Railway Labor Act (RLA) 45 U.S.C. §§ 151 et seq. Plaintiffs assert that,
5 since their First Amended Complaint (FAC) alleges only “common law contract” rights, the 6 action was appropriately brought in state court:

7 [The FAC] does not allege breach of a CBA. It, therefore, does not state a 8 claim that arises under, or is controlled by, federal law.

9 It does not matter that the document that established the initial agreement to 10 arbitrate – the Transition Agreement – established other contract rights involving an RLA carrier.

11 (Dkt. No. 9, 9:8-13).

12 Nevertheless, Ninth Circuit precedent establishes that the propriety of removal must 13 be evaluated based on the pleadings at the time the removal was filed.<sup>2</sup> The Plaintiffs’
14 original complaint alleges that their claims arise exclusively from collective bargaining
15 agreements: the West Pilots’ collective bargaining agreement as modified by the Transition
16 Agreement. Even the FAC – notwithstanding its self-conscious effort to expunge virtually 17 any reference to CBA’s – acknowledges that the Plaintiffs’ alleged rights are “memorialized”
18 in the Transition Agreement, which defines itself as a CBA subject to the RLA.

19 Since, under either complaint, the Plaintiffs allege causes of action, and seek 20 remedies, that are within the exclusive province of the Railway Labor Act, the Defendants

22 <sup>1</sup> Defendants refer herein to the relevant filings by each document’s docket number.

23 <sup>2</sup> In view of the fact that Plaintiffs’ Motion to Remand is based entirely on a document – the FAC – which is immaterial to the issue of removal, the Court may decide that the motion is not properly before it.

1 respectfully submit that the Plaintiffs’ Motion for Remand should be denied. In addition,
2 since the Plaintiffs attribute their contractual breaches to the actions of officers of the de-
3 certified Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA) and the US Airline Pilots Association
4 (USAPA), the Plaintiffs’ lawsuit constitutes a duty of fair representation action and is subject
5 to removal on that basis as well.

6 Finally, the propriety of removal in this matter is bolstered by this action’s striking
7 similarity to the Plaintiffs’ federal court action currently pending in this Court. Plaintiffs
8 seek analogous relief in both actions, but through artful pleading have attempted to disguise
9 the true federal nature of their complaints in this action by recasting them as purely state law 10 claims.

11 II. ARGUMENT

12 A. The Propriety of Removal is Based Solely on Plaintiffs’ State Court Pleadings

13 The Ninth Circuit has “long held that post-removal amendments to the pleadings cannot 14 affect whether a case is removable, because the propriety of removal is determined solely on 15 the basis of the pleadings filed in state court.” Williams v. Costco Wholesale Corp., 471 F.3d 16 975, 976 (9th Cir. 2006) (emphasis supplied); Sparta Surgical Corp. v. Nat’l Ass’n of 17 Securities Dealers, Inc., 159 F.3d 1209, 1213 (9th Cir. 1998) (“jurisdiction must be analyzed 18 on the basis of the pleadings filed at the time of removal without reference to subsequent 19 amendments. ... a plaintiff may not compel remand by amending a complaint to eliminate 20 the federal question upon which removal was based.”); O’Halloran v. Univ. of Wash., 856
21 F.2d 1375, 1379 (9th Cir. 1988) (“In determining the existence of removal jurisdiction, based 22 upon a federal question the court must look to the complaint as of the time the removal 23 petition was filed.”).

1 Plaintiffs characterize the changes made to their pleadings as involving only 2 “background allegations that are unnecessary surplusage ....” (Dkt. No. 9, 2:3). This 3 characterization is astonishingly disingenuous.

5 B. The Plaintiffs May Not Avoid Federal Court Jurisdiction Through Artful Pleading

6 Based on the changes made in the FAC, it is clear that the Plaintiffs have attempted to 7 “artfully phrase[] a federal claim by dressing it in state law attire.” Lippitt v. Raymond James
8 Fin. Serv., Inc., 340 F.3d 1033, 1041 (9th Cir. 2003). However, the artful pleading doctrine 9 precludes such an attempt to avoid application of federal law and federal court jurisdiction.

10 The artful pleading doctrine is a corollary to the well-pleaded complaint rule, 11 and provides that although the plaintiff is master of his own pleadings, he may 12 not avoid federal jurisdiction by omitting from the complaint allegations of 13 federal law that are essential to the establishment of his claim.

14 ***

15 Under the artful pleading doctrine, a plaintiff may not defeat removal by 16 omitting to plead necessary federal questions in a complaint. The artful
17 pleading doctrine allows courts to delve beyond the face of the state court
18 complaint and find federal question jurisdiction by recharacterizing a 19 plaintiff’s state-law claim as a federal claim.

20 Id. (citations omitted). The Ninth Circuit has applied the artful pleading doctrine in the 21 specific context of analyzing the propriety of federal question removal pursuant to the RLA.
22 Schroeder v. Trans World Airlines, Inc., 702 F.2d 189, 191 (9th Cir. 1983) (“Artful pleading 23 by the plaintiff will not be allowed to conceal the true nature of the complaint. ... The application of [the RLA] and the necessity of its interpretation establish the existence of a federal question as an essential element of plaintiffs’ cause of action, providing the basis for removal.”).

1           1. Both the Original Complaint and the FAC are Based on Collective Bargaining
2           Agreements Governed by the RLA

3           Both causes of action in the original complaint are based on the “express language”
4           and/or “implied covenant” contained in the Transition Agreement. (Original Complaint at ¶¶ 5           110, 119-20.) The Transition Agreement is described as having modified the existing West
6           and East CBA’s. (Id. at ¶ 63).<sup>3</sup> The Transition Agreement thereby created “collective 7           bargaining rights and obligations” that ran between US Airways and the West and East pilot
8           groups. (Id. at ¶ 64). The Original Complaint’s section entitled “Plaintiffs’ Injuries” ties all
9           of the injuries listed therein to a “breach of the West CBA as modified by the Transition
10          Agreement.” (Id. at ¶¶ 104-07). The remedial order sought by the Plaintiffs would preclude 11          the Defendants from “negotiating a collective bargaining agreement” in one manner and 12          affirmatively order them to “negotiate a single collective bargaining agreement” in another
13          manner. (Id. at p. 21). Nonetheless, the Plaintiffs remarkably assert that their litigation “does 14          not plead breach of any collective bargaining agreement....” (Dkt. No. 9, 2:16-17).

15          The Plaintiffs’ FAC purges all of the above-referenced allegations in favor of a new 16          legal theory – “common law contract” rights. Nevertheless, the Plaintiffs concede that the 17          purported “common law contract” is memorialized in two documents – the “Transition
18          Agreement” and “ALPA Merger Policy.”<sup>4</sup> (FAC, Dkt. No. 8 at ¶ 16(a) and (b)).
19

21 <sup>3</sup> In the Plaintiffs’ parallel federal court action, they recognized, as a matter of fact, that the 22 Transition Agreement is a collectively bargained-for agreement between an RLA covered air 23 carrier and labor union. See Case No. 08-cv-1633, Dkt. No. 77, Stipulated Statement of Facts, ¶¶ 16-17 (“US Airways and ALPA on behalf of West and East Pilots entered into the Transition Agreement.”).

<sup>4</sup> ALPA Merger Policy embodies an internal policy of a de-certified union, the Air Line Pilots Association (“ALPA”). Plaintiffs assert rights under the ALPA Merger Policy based

1 The Transition Agreement, according to its own terms<sup>5</sup>:

- 2 • “is made and entered into in accordance with the provisions of the Railway
3 Labor Act, as amended (the ‘Act’) ...”<sup>6</sup>
- 4 • Addresses the duration and extent to which the East and West pilot groups will 5 be governed “by their respective collective bargaining agreements”<sup>7</sup>
- 6 • “Governs in case of conflict between one of its terms and a provision of a 7 collective bargaining agreement between the [Union] and an Airline Party;”<sup>8</sup>
- 8 • Sets forth the process by which the [Union] and the Airline Parties “will 9 negotiate a single collective bargaining agreement applicable to the merged 10 operations of America West and US Airways ....”<sup>9</sup>
- 11 • Is subject to modification “by written agreement of the [Union] and the Airline 12 Parties collectively;”

13 The Transition Agreement further provides that any “dispute” arising thereunder is subject to 14 a Board of Adjustment in conformance with the terms of “Section 204 of the [Railway

15 _____
16 on the allegation that it is “part of the Transition Agreement as if written there directly.”
17 (Original Complaint at ¶ 111).

18 <sup>5</sup> The FAC incorporates the Transition Agreement by reference and therefore review of that 19 document as part of the removal analysis is appropriate. Salveson v. Western States 20 Bankcard Corp., 525 F. Supp 566, 572 (N.D. Cal. 1981) (“it is proper for the court to 21 examine the record to determine if the real nature of the claim is federal”); Voss v.
22 Supermail/Western Union, 675 F. Supp 1210, 1212 (S.D. Cal. 1981); County of Sonoma v.

14 2. Plaintiffs’ Original Complaint and FAC Both Concern the Actions and Rights
15 of RLA Labor Organizations

16 As we have previously briefed the Court, claims asserting violations of a union’s duty
17 of fair representation (DFR) are preempted and subject to removal. (Dkt. No. 1 at ¶¶ 42-51).
18 Plaintiffs cannot evade exclusive federal court jurisdiction by re-casting an alleged failure by 19 union representatives to enforce CBA rights as state law breach of contract claims.

1 preempted where the conduct at issue is subject to the union's statutory duties as exclusive

8 contract and negligent professional representation brought against union and union's 9 business manager were preempted by federal law).

10 Apprised of the arguments made by Defendants in their Notice of Removal, the 11 Plaintiffs now argue that:

12 this is an action to enforce common law contract obligations related to an [sic] 13 common law arbitration and is brought against ordinary individuals who 14 were parties to that contract and the arbitration.

15 * * *

16 State law governs enforcement of the arbitration because neither side here, 17 either individually or in aggregate, was a "labor organization" subject to § 301 of the LMRA and no party was a 'carrier" or a union subject to the RLA.

18 (Dkt. No. 9, 2:18-20, 3:3-5) (emphasis supplied). Consistent with their new "ordinary 19 individuals" strategy, the Plaintiffs have excised from the FAC all those allegations that 20 attribute the alleged contract breaches to the actions of officers of the Air Line Pilots
21 Association (ALPA) and the US Airline Pilots Association (USAPA). Nevertheless, as 22

1 discussed above, the Ninth Circuit has held that a removal action must be analyzed in light of 2 the allegations contained in the original complaint.<sup>11</sup>

3 The original complaint attributes responsibility to the named Defendants based on 4 their respective positions as union officers:

- 5 • Plaintiff Bradford as the USAPA President (Original Complaint at ¶ 11)
- 6 • Plaintiff Diorio as Chairman of the USAPA Negotiating Advisory Committee
7 (Original Complaint at ¶ 13)
- 8 • Defendant Frear as a member of the USAPA Negotiating Advisory Committee
9 (Original Complaint at ¶ 15)
- 10 • Defendant King as USAPA Secretary-Treasurer (Original Complaint at ¶ 17)
- 11 • Defendant Mowery as Consultant to the USAPA Negotiating Advisory 12 Committee (Original Complaint at ¶ 19)
- 13 • Defendant Stephan as chairman of the US Airways Master Executive Council 14 (MEC), Airline Pilots Association, International (ALPA) (Original Complaint at 15 ¶ 21)

14 All of the above allegations have been purged from the FAC on the purported grounds that
15 they are mere “surplusage.”

16 The onset of the contractual breach alleged – at least in the original complaint – is tied 17 to actions committed by ALPA’s US Airways MEC.<sup>12</sup> For example:

---

20 <sup>11</sup> See infra pp. 2-3.

21 <sup>12</sup> ALPA is a “unitary” national labor organization that is not composed of local unions like 22 most other labor organizations. Crawford v. Air Line Pilots Ass’n Int’l, 992 F.2d 1295 (4th 23 Cir. 1993), cert. denied, 510 U.S. 869 (1993). MEC representatives are thus agents of ALPA who, when acting within the scope of their apparent authority “bind the union, regardless of whether [their acts] were specifically authorized or ratified.” North River Energy Corp. v.
United Mine Workers of Am., 664 F.2d 1184, 1192 (11th Cir. 1981).

- 1 • An ALPA US Airways MEC representative is quoted as stating that “[t]he 2 Nicolau Award will never see the light of day on the East.” (Original Complaint
3 at ¶ 91)
- 4 • The ALPA US Airways MEC Chairman reports the East objective of having 5 “permanent” separate operations (Original Complaint at ¶ 92)
- 6 • The ALPA US Airways MEC withdrew its representatives from a joint 7 committee seeking to negotiate the terms of a merged operation of US Airways
8 (Original Complaint at ¶ 93-94)

9 All of the above allegations have been purged from the FAC on the purported grounds that
10 they are mere “surplusage.”

11 The original complaint attributes the perpetuation of the alleged contractual breach, in 12 the aftermath of the de-certification of ALPA, to the actions of USAPA representatives:

- 13 • USAPA counsel advised the East Pilots that they could “use” USAPA to re-
14 negotiate the integrated seniority list (Original Complaint at ¶ 97)
- 15 • USAPA counsel advised East pilots that they could “use” USAPA to implement 16 a “seniority-based pilot integration agreement.” (Original Complaint at ¶ 98)
- 17 • USAPA has publicly stated that any contract it negotiated with US Airways will 18 not incorporate the Nicolau document. (Original Complaint at ¶ 103)

19 All of the above allegations have been purged from the FAC on the purported grounds that
20 they are mere “surplusage.”

21 In view of the fact that the Plaintiffs’ lawsuit is based on alleged breaches of a CBA
22 perpetrated successively by ALPA and USAPA representatives, the Court should not permit 23 the Plaintiffs to resort to artful pleading to evade removal.<sup>13</sup> This is particularly critical in the instant case where the Plaintiffs seek to certify all “East pilots” as a defendant class and order

<sup>13</sup> “The federal interest in the duty of fair representation is of such importance that a duty of fair representation claim is governed exclusively by federal law even when brought in state

1 this class to “negotiate” as ordered by this Court. Such action clearly seeks to subvert the 2 bargaining authority of USAPA – the certified collective bargaining representative – whose 3 authority to negotiate on behalf of all US Airways pilots is exclusive as provided under the 4 Railway Labor Act. Barthelemy v. Air Line Pilots Ass’n, 897 F.2d 999, 1007 (9th Cir. 1990)
5 (the “RLA imposes the affirmative duty on the employer to treat only with the true
6 representative, and hence the negative duty to treat no other.”).

8 C. The District of Columbia District Court Remand Decision Relied Upon by Plaintiffs is Clearly Distinguishable

9 The Plaintiffs rely heavily on a D.C. district court decision finding that the East
10 MEC’s application to set aside the Nicolau Award did not warrant removal. (Dkt. No. 9, 11 13:18) (citing US Airways Master Executive Council, Air Line Pilots Ass’n, Int’l v. America
12 West Master Executive Council, Air Line Pilots Ass’n, Int’l, 525 F. Supp. 2d 127 (D.D.C.
13 2007)). Far from supporting the Plaintiffs’ Motion to Remand, the D.C. district court’s 14 analysis highlights why removal is appropriate in the instant case.

15 The D.C. district court based its decision on the factual findings that the dispute 16 concerned an “internal” union policy the purpose of which was to generate a “proposed 17 seniority list, which ALPA promises to present to the merged airlines in an effort to persuade 18 the merged airlines to adopt the list.” 525 F. Supp. 2d at 130-31. ALPA, the certified
19 collective bargaining representative at that time, was not a party to the litigation and the East
20 MEC sought no remedy that would restrain ALPA or its officers from exercising their rights, 21

23 court.” Cooper v. TWA Airlines, LLC, 349 F. Supp. 2d 495, 508 (E.D.N.Y. 2004) (citing Vaca v. Sipes, 386 U.S. 171, 178 (1967)).

1 or fulfilling their obligations, under the Railway Labor Act. To the contrary, the district
2 court founded its decision on the limited state law contractual relief sought by the East MEC:

3 In their application, plaintiffs requested that the following relief be granted: 1) 4 that the Nicolau Award be vacated in its entirety; and 2) that the plaintiffs be granted such other and further relief as the court deems necessary and proper.

5 Superior Court has the authority to vacate an award upon application of a party
6 where, among other reasons, “the arbitrators exceeded their powers.” D.C.
Code § 16-4311(a)(3).

7 Id. at 132. This limited effort to vacate an intra-union arbitration contrasts sharply with the 8 Plaintiffs’ efforts in the case at bar to enjoin the defendants, including the USAPA President, 9 USAPA Negotiating Committee, and other USAPA officers from:

10 taking any steps toward negotiating a collective bargaining agreement that is 11 inconsistent with fully implementing the Nicolau Award Single Seniority List...

12 and, similarly, orders the defendants

13 to make good faith efforts to negotiate a single collective bargaining
14 agreement that fully implements the Nicolau List.

15 (Original Complaint at p. 21).<sup>14</sup>

16 As the D.C. district court did in the intra-ALPA litigation, this Court’s decision on the 17 removal issue should focus on the remedy that the Plaintiffs seek. Focusing on the remedial
18 nature of the complaint to assess the propriety of federal court jurisdiction is proper, as courts
19 have held that where a plaintiff’s right to relief is dependent on a question of federal law, 20 federal courts have jurisdiction to hear the case. Franchise Tax Bd. of Cal. v. Constr.

21 _____
22 <sup>14</sup> The FAC artfully alters the remedial request to that of a court order requiring that the East
23 Pilots treat the Nicolau Award as “final and binding” and that it not “frustrate the Company’s transition” to operations under the Nicolau List. (FAC, Dkt. No. 8, 12:21-13:4). Even artful pleading cannot change the fact that the Plaintiffs are demanding that USAPA adopt and implement ALPA’s collective bargaining proposal on the seniority issue.

1 Laborers Vacation Trust for Southern Cal., 463 U.S. 1, 27-28 (1983); W. Radio Serv. Co. v.
2 Qwest Corp., 530 F.3d 1186, 1192 (9th Cir. 2008); Peabody Coal Co. v. Navajo Nation, 373
3 F.3d 945, 949 (9th Cir. 2004).

4 Without cavil, Plaintiffs seek to have the Court dictate how collective bargaining is 5 conducted and restrict what USAPA can propose to US Airways. The issue of who is 6 authorized to conduct collective bargaining pursuant to the RLA is exclusively a federal 7 question. Barthelemy, 897 F.2d at 1007. Likewise, any question concerning a Union’s 8 conduct of collective bargaining in alleged violation of its members’ rights is also 9 exclusively a federal question. Bensel v. Allied Pilots Ass’n, 387 F.3d 298, 322 (3d Cir.
10 2004) (“The rights and duties of unions in carrying out their representational functions is an 11 area where the policy of the law is so dominated by the sweep of federal statutes that legal 12 relations which they affect must be deemed governed by federal law having its source in 13 those statutes. . .”). Accordingly, “[a]llowing state law claims in this area would disrupt the 14 federal scheme.” Cooper, 349 F. Supp. 2d at 508.

15
16 D. Individual Pilots Were Not Parties to the ALPA Mandated Arbitration

17 Finally, Plaintiffs’ arguments clearly rely on the fallacy that individual pilots were parties
18 to the Nicolau arbitration and that they “agreed” to a process dictated by the ALPA Merger
19 Policy. However, no individual pilot agreed to this process. ALPA Merger Policy mandates 20 that this policy be followed. No rank-and-file pilot had a role in determining the procedure;
21 rather, the ALPA Executive Council, by decree, established the mandatory process. No 22 individual pilot agreed nor did any individual pilot have a right to opt out.

1       Despite Plaintiffs’ arguments in this respect, these same Plaintiffs have agreed in their
2 parallel federal court action currently pending in this Court, that the parties to the arbitration
3 were, in fact, the East and West ALPA MEC’s.<sup>15</sup> Equity mandates that Plaintiffs should not
4 be allowed to advance and potentially benefit from such inconsistent legal and factual
5 positions. Engquist v. Oregon Dep’t of Agric., 478 F.3d 985, 1000 (9th Cir. 2007) (“Judicial 6 estoppel prevents a party from taking inconsistent positions when those inconsistencies have 7 an adverse effect on the judicial process.”).

8       E. Exercising Removal Jurisdiction Does Not Require This Court to Determine the 9 Scope Of Preemption Under the RLA, But if This Court Does, it Should Follow a 10 Majority Of Circuits That Hold the RLA Completely Preempts State Claims

11       As a threshold matter, it is clear that the RLA establishes a mandatory and exclusive 12 arbitral mechanism for settling “minor disputes” that grow out of “grievances or out of the 13 interpretation or application of agreements covering rates of pay, rules or working 14 conditions.” Espinal v. Northwest Airlines, 90 F.3d 1452, 1456 (9th Cir. 1996) (citing, 15 Hawaiian Airlines, Inc. Norris, 512 U.S. 246 (1994)); Union Pac. R.R. Co. v. Sheehan, 439
16 U.S. 89, 99 (1978). A state claim is a minor dispute within the meaning of the RLA if it 17 involves facts “inextricably intertwined with the grievance machinery of the collective 18 bargaining agreement and of the RLA.” Edelman v. Western Airlines, 892 F.2d 839, 843 (9th
19 Cir.1989) (quoting, Magnuson v. Burlington Northern, Inc., 576 F.2d 1367, 1369 (9th Cir.), 20 cert. denied, 439 U.S. 930 (1978)). Thus, where claims are effectively based on a claimed 21 violation of a collective bargaining agreement (CBA), or any of its amendments or 22 modifications, they are normally preempted and subject to resolution by Adjustment Boards.

23

1 Saridakis v. United Airlines, 166 F.3d 1272, 1277-79 (9th Cir. 1999); Perugini v. Safeway
2 Stores, Inc., 935 F.2d 1083, 1088 (9th Cir. 1991); Schroeder, 702 F.2d at 191.

3 In the case at bar, Plaintiffs do not deny the jurisdiction of the Adjustment Boards,
4 nor do they invoke any independent state law as was done in the D.C. district court decision
5 upon which they rely so heavily. Instead these are strictly contract claims that Plaintiffs
6 allege do not require interpretation or application of CBAs. Now, in support of their motion,
7 Plaintiffs argue that because “complete preemption [under the RLA] does not apply,” remand 8 is required. (Dkt. No. 9, 13:4). This argument should fail for several reasons:

9 First, as Plaintiffs acknowledge, the Ninth Circuit has not resolved whether the RLA
10 is a complete preemption statute or not, hence this Court is not obliged to apply the RLA as 11 an “ordinary” preemption statute. Compare, Price v. PSA Inc., 829 F.2d 871 (9th Cir. 1987)
12 (not complete) with, Grote v. Trans World Airlines, Inc., 905 F.2d 1307 (9th Cir. 1990)
13 (complete).<sup>16</sup> Moreover, the cases cited by Plaintiff are not RLA cases: Beneficial Natl. Bank
14 v. Anderson, 539 U.S. 1, 6 (2003) nowhere mentioned the RLA and Hall v. North American 15 Van Lines, Inc., 476 F.3d 683, 688, n.3 (9th Cir. 2007) concerned a claim of breach of an 16 inter-state shipping contract, not an RLA produced CBA.

17 Second, even in the absence of, or without deciding the issue of, complete 18 preemption, a federal court may exercise removal jurisdiction over state law claims that 19 implicate a substantial federal question. Lippitt, 340 F.3d at 1042 (“In addition to state law 20

21 _____
22 <sup>16</sup> In Moore-Thomas, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 61282 at *13, the Oregon District Court, in a 23 decision issued three years after the Beneficial Supreme Court decision, examined the issue of complete preemption under the RLA and determined that plaintiffs’ state-based wage claims were preempted by the RLA, and therefore were “converted into federal claims under the RLA; and removal was proper.”

1 claims subject to complete federal preemption, the artful pleading doctrine allows federal 2 courts to retain jurisdiction over state law claims that implicate a substantial federal 3 question”);<sup>17</sup> see also, W. Radio Serv. Co., 530 F.3d at 1192 (citing with approval, Franchise
4 Tax Bd. of Cal. v. Constr. Laborers Vacation Trust for Southern Cal., 463 U.S. 1, 27-28
5 (1983) (holding that federal question jurisdiction under § 1331 exists when "a well-pleaded
6 complaint establishes either that federal law creates the cause of action or that the plaintiff's
7 right to relief necessarily depends on resolution of a substantial question of federal law"));
8 Navarro, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 62513 at *14 (retaining removal jurisdiction pursuant to the 9 RLA without resolving complete versus ordinary preemption).

10 Third, were this Court inclined to determine the scope of RLA preemption, it should 11 follow a majority of the Circuits that have found the RLA to completely preempt state law
12 claims: BIW Deceived, 132 F.3d at 831; Shafi v. British Airways, PLC, 83 F.3d 566, 569 (2d 13 Cir. 1996); O'Brien v. Duluth, Missabe & Iron Range Ry., 27 F.3d 569 (7th Cir. 1994); Graf
14 v. Elgin, Joliet & E. Ry. Co., 790 F.2d 1341, 1344 (7th Cir. 1986); Richardson v. United 15 Steelworkers of Am., 864 F.2d 1162, 1165 (5th Cir. 1989); Gore v. Trans World Airlines, 210
16 F.3d 944, 949 (8th Cir. 2000); Deford v. Soo Line R.R. Co., 867 F.2d 1080, 1085 (8th Cir.
17 1989).

18
19 Fourth, the minority of circuits that have found the RLA not to completely preempt
20 are distinguishable from the case at bar. In those cases the plaintiffs explicitly asserted a 21 state law cause of action in the complaint. This is distinguishable from the case at hand 22 where the plaintiffs have asserted nothing more than a violation of a collective bargaining
